If the many persons who enjoy hot breads and cakes, few can eat them safely in the evening on account of their indigestibility. Breads and cakes made of "Cerealine Flakes" are not open to this objection. They can be eaten in the evening as well as in the morning without causing any unpleasant feeling, much less an attack of indigestion. "Cerealine Flakes" digests twice as readily as either Oatmeal or Hominy, and nearly three times as readily as either Flour or Buckwheat.

The "Cerealine Cook-book" containing over two hundred carefully prepared recipes, and a pamphlet on "Cereal Foods" illustrated with twelve original engravings of "Hawthorn's Fastings," will be sent to any one who will mention where this advertisement was seen, and enclose a two-cent stamp for postage to the Cerealine Mfg. Co., Columbus, Indiana.

A PERSONAL LETTER TO MR. WIMPY.

MR. H. CORNELIUS WIMPY:

DEAR SIR—Your favor of the 14th inst. at hand, acknowledging the receipt of spring suit, and can assure you that the pleasure and satisfaction you express is fully equalled by the gratification we feel in turning out work that so heartily meets with the approval of our patrons. We are doing the largest business this season that we have done for years, and with increased facilities for doing first-class work, we trust that it will continue. We are having an special drive on our striped Scotch Trowsers which we have marked down to 25c. We have also been remarkably successful in the sale of our 25c suits, and have been compelled to duplicate the pattern several times. Thanking you for past favors and trusting you may merit a continuance of them in the future, we remain,

Yours, etc.

A NOVEL BURGLARY.

Some Fellow Nearly Breaks his Neck Getting Into Coburn & Lynch's.

At an early hour this morning a novel attempt was made to burglarize the saloon of Coburn & Lynch. In the roof of the building occupied by the saloon is an immense skylight which throws light on the billiard tables. The skylight is operated by a rope running down into the saloon. The burglar gained the roof of the building, propped open the skylight and climbed inside, using as foot-holds some wooden cross pieces. He then grasped the rope, intending to lower himself to the floor, but on his hand. By the breaking of the rope he reached the floor more quickly than he expected. The breaking of the rope allowed the skylight to slide back into place with a tremendous jar which literally shattered the heavy glass, of which the skylight was made, into fragments. The glass crashed to the floor with a great noise and the burglar, probably fearing that the noise would attract attention, left the place by the back door. He did not stop long enough to close the doors, and they were found standing wide open Sunday morning. So far as is known nothing was taken.

COME TO HIS LONG HOME.

Mr. Edward Snowden, An Old Citizen, Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Mr. Edward Snowden, one of the oldest residents of Springfield, died at his home on the corner of Factory and Fair streets this morning, shortly before 1 o'clock. For some time he had been troubled with heart disease, but nothing serious was anticipated at this time. Last week he was able to go out, and even on Sunday walked about his house and received his friends. He was a native of New York, and had been in this country for nearly thirty years. He was a member of the Universalist church, and had a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He was industrious and frugal in his habits and kind and gentle in his nature. These qualities won friends for him and once won they were always his friends.

The funeral will occur at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from his late residence, No. 250 South Factory street.

"Mixed Pickles" at the Grand.

On Thursday evening, April 14, J. R. Polk and company, at the Grand and present "Mixed Pickles," of which the Philadelphia Enquirer says:

The management was nearly compelled to hang out "standing room only" last evening at the opera house. The audience was very large and the slightest witticism served to promote roars of laughter from all quarters of the house. Laughter, however, was the order and each act in itself was one great gigantic laugh. Big men, young women, little men, and old women rolled around in their seats, bent themselves nearly double, made their knees sore with the laughing given them with their hands, and in many cases, the tears in the excess of their perfect enjoyment. "Mixed Pickles" is a good wholesome comedy with richly drawn characters, and to be free of any viciousness, and is a splendid in some of the same caliber. Of course, the greatest interest centered in Mr. Polk, and he was accorded a flattering reception. He is a humorist of the highest order, but he thoroughly understands that the humor should not be shown on the stage; hence it is that each character is a well-drawn and individualized study in contrast with its neighbor, all when assessed, together, constructing and presenting to us a most agreeable comedy.

AGRICULTURAL BOARD.

Reorganization and Election of Officers.

The board of agriculture met in regular monthly session Saturday afternoon at their room in the west city building, with all the members present except Secretary L. E. Gospel Temperance Meeting.

The gospel temperance meeting Sunday afternoon at Temperance hall, was only moderately well attended, owing to the inclement weather without. A good meeting was held nevertheless. Some of the ladies had beautifully decorated the platform with flowers in honor of the day. The choir was large and under the direction of Mr. B. F. Fairchild and the ladies rendered some exquisite music. The scripture lesson was read by Mr. Thompson and prayer offered by Rev. Troun. Interim talks were made by Uncle Abe, who was leading the meeting. R. S. Thompson, Rev. Troun, William Fulton and another. The lectures Thursday and Friday evenings by Mr. and Mrs. Moses, the Egyptians, were announced. Mr. Colvin was appointed to lead the meeting on next Sunday.

Mr. Fairchild requests that all who have or will sing in the choir meet on Tuesday evening at Temperance hall at 7:30 for the purpose of practice.

Mothers' Meeting.

The mothers' meeting announced to be held in K. P. hall, Union block, will not be held on Sunday, but will be held in Temperance hall on west High street, Tuesday evening, April 12. INTER-STATE COMMERCE LAW.

Its Effects on Freight Rates Already Being Felt. The Iron Trade.

The following taken from the local columns of the Cincinnati Commercial people of special interest to Springfield citizens, and especially to manufacturers.

The effects of the enforcement of the interstate commerce law are beginning to be felt by the Cincinnati merchants and dealers. It is particularly evident upon the tolling-mills and pig-iron dealers.

In conversation with a Third street iron merchant yesterday he said:

"We're just beginning to feel the effects of the enforcement of that infernal law. Here I've got half a dozen orders for iron that I cannot fill, simply because the railroads are prohibitory. Here's Springfield, O., for instance. The rate on pig-iron from here to Springfield is $1.10 per ton, double what it was before the law went into effect. The rate to Cleveland, too, has also been doubled.

The result is that we cannot compete for that business, as other mills at greater distance can lay down the iron at Springfield at about one-half the rate that we can. Rates to interior Ohio points have gone up nearly double. We cannot touch some of those places now, while points in Illinois, more than three times the distance, some of them Ohio towns, we get a cheaper rate than we can to Springfield, which is only eighty miles up the road.

That is not the only effect of the law. Not only this city, but elsewhere, here and every day we get letters from mill-owners and shippers in different parts of the country telling us they cannot fill our orders at the freight rates. Some of the mills in the country will ship here to get business if something isn't done pretty soon."

A $225 FIRE.

Mr. Chris Behrens' Residence Badly Damaged Sunday Morning.

At three minutes of 5 o'clock Sunday morning a telephone message was received at the Central engine house stating that Chris Behrens' residence, No. 418 Lagoon avenue, was on fire. The engine was sent, and the Lagoon and Western responded. When they reached the scene of the fire the smoke-house and summer kitchen were on fire in flames, and the main part of the building, a two-story and half frame, was in imminent danger. By hard work the firemen succeeded in checking the progress of the flames, but were unable to save the summer kitchen and kitchen. The roof of the main building was scorched somewhat. The fire originated in the smoke-house where a hearth was being cured. A set of carpenter tools were destroyed. The loss was about $225.

End of the Ecclesiastical Year at First Presbyterian Church.

An important and interesting meeting will be held at the First Presbyterian church next Wednesday evening, in celebration of the close of the very successful ecclesiastical year. A programme of exercises and appropriate has been arranged for the occasion. There are several ladies of the church will read papers on the work of women. A talented young man, who has been studying at the University of the Pacific, will deliver a humorous paper on the Fiji Islands which recently attracted so much attention at the conference, and Dr. Falconer will recite several poetical selections. There are other features of the programme, and reports will be received from the various societies of the church.

Another Attraction Offered by the Orpheus Society.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Orpheus society, Saturday evening, at the office of Secretary Staley, it was decided to engage the Rock Band Company, of England, for one of their entertainment, and then close the season with a grand concert, by the society, about June 6th. The concert of the Rock Band Company, of England, for one of their entertainment, and then close the season with a grand concert, by the society, about June 6th. The Value Restored.

Two years ago his son was attacked with a severe cold, which settled in his throat and he could not get his voice. I was advised to put ALLERGEN'S PLEURAL PASTES around his neck. I applied two. In one day he was much better, and in four days he was perfectly well. For one, can recommend ALLERGEN'S PLEURAL PASTES as infallible.
